

ELISABETH KITZING

Faith-Based Indie Musician | Music Creator | Inspirational Coach

Who?

Self taught indie musician, artist born & raised in New York. 2 college degrees (not in music) & worked in many different vocations - always writing music & making art. Bought a course in mixing and mastering and scoured the Internet for great mixing tips and tricks. The rest is history.

What do I do?

I create inspirational, faith-based music, music videos, podcasts and books for your soul. I also help aspiring songwriters/music creators.

Where do I do it?

Featherhead Media studio, in Southern Sweden

Services:

Co-write/edit new songs, create promotional graphics & music videos, and encourage you to make your releases/internet presence/SEO more effective.

Discography:

Singles: Midnight Lullaby; I'm Leaning on You; Jesus, I Love You. LP: Change My Mind

Singing Peace of Mind to a World in Chaos

We are living in a time marked by worry and chaos but also a time of unprecedented opportunity where musicians can easily create and distribute new, inspirational, faith-based music that gives people hope, security and peace of mind in these troubling times.

One historical event, the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, is the focal point of history! God reached down from heaven and stretched out His hand to pull us up out of the quicksand we were sinking in. He pulled me up out of a dysfunctional family and set my feet on a solid rock.

Because of the unconditional love I have received from God, I have come to understand that I am fully loved, accepted and helped by Him in all life situations. This has made me secure - I no longer worry or need to gain others' attention by over performing. I can just be who I was made to be and sing because I love to sing.

People need to hear the Gospel like never before and when

What's Next?

Starting the fall of 2022, I'm embarking on the next quest: the It's Beginning to Rain Outside album.

- 12 songs
- about living the Christian life victoriously in a time of uncertainty, information deluge, persecution and chaos
- Genres: pop, rock, electro... and ballads

Want to Collaborate?

I'm looking for musicians who want to work with me on tracks from my next album in exchange for help with their SEO, Internet presence, graphics creation, etc.

Want a concert?

I do live concerts in Southern Sweden, & concerts/interviews on Zoom, etc. On Sverige Live, Red's Room Entertainment... I've shared my music and my testimony about how God has lead me from a life of stress to rest through His love. Book me!

Contact:

Drop me an email at:

they hear in our songs what we've experienced it gives them hope! Your music and my music can change lives!

Helping Others Create and Promote Their Music

Maybe I can help you, too? There are many others who know more than I do, are more trained than I am, and so on, but they don't take/have the time to help others. But, I do.

I want to help aspiring artists, mixers and songwriters by sharing what I know: music promotion hacks, mixing tips, etc. I've always done my best to learn new things and grow and I've learned some great things along the way. that I'd love to share with you. I know how important it is to network and get encouragement - something I wish that I had more of. I'd love to help encourage you and help you grow so you can share the Gospel more effectively through your music.

Podcast:

After globally releasing over 1 hour of inspirational songs, I felt a need to share what I've learned about music creation (Logic Pro), promotion, social media posting etc, with other faith-based artists/music creators so I started a podcast called The Indie Musician's Diary in August of 2022. It is a continuation of my four volume book series called, "An Indie Musician's Diary" that has many tips, tricks and links about music creation and promotion. You can read it on Wattpad for free.

If you'd like to collaborate with me on future projects, guest my podcast, or you need some encouragement in your music process I'm here to help you as much as I can. If you'd want help, would like to have me on your podcast/do a concert or collaborate drop me an email at: info@featherheadmedia.com.

News

A new single, God Loves Rock'n'Roll, a blues is in the works and my next album, It's Beginning to Rain Outside begins in September of 2022. It will be a full length LP with original, inspirational songs that have helped me stand strong in the faith in the midst of the storm.
